Since my trip is still in the future I can not say how useful this map will be. However, it looks like it will be. The detail on the Peninsula is wonderful. The map is quite large (37" x 25"). On the one side, place names are in Spanish with some named also in English. Enlarged sections on the back mostly have both languages. I don't think the language will make any deterrent to the map's usefulness. On the first side there are fine, almost photographic quality drawings of various penguins, birds, seals and whales which are titled in English, Spanish and scientific names. I may take some tape along so the map can be out and up for easy reference in my cabin. The reverse side has enlarged map portions from the first side. Here are the Shetland Islands in detail as well as the peninsula west coast, the north peninsula, and two maps (one of just the peninsula and the other of the rest of the continent) marking each of the scientific bases with the name of the country manning them. Ah, yes and a picture of the Humpback Whale. I am quite pleased with this map and have been using it as I've been working my way through a description of each of the places one might stop on a trip there. Can't wait to go!

Absolutely terrific map of the Antarctic peninsula. Includes a large map of the entire peninsula with several enlarged areas to show detail. I easily located all the stops we made on our journey. I wish I had purchased this map, instead of the other that I purchased, prior to the journey.

Bought this for use during our Antarctic cruise and it was great to track and record our ship's movement. This way I know what the photos are of when editing them.

I didn't realize this was in Spanish

This has much more than I imagined and for the price was great. Made of good material with will endure folding and unfolding many times. Buy it!

Totally useless map - in Spanish to begin with which isn't that bad, but it is arranged badly. Can't find anything on it. Wish I had not bought it.

Very useful map for planning purposes and to follow your itinerary while in the region. The general map 1:1.500.000 is supplemented by many detailed maps of local areas of interest to visitors in cruise boats. Sturdy paper and good quality graphics. Bonus: some sketches of animals one is likely to encounter on the trip.
