Customer Reviews

Toddler-PreS "Suppose the world were just black-and-white? The black cat, who lives in a white house, can't visit the white cat, who lives in a black house, and vice versa. When one calls on the other, the caller promptly disappears. This enchanting board book features simple black-and-white collages of cats, or cats in houses, until the triumphant, colorful ending. Garralon, a native of France, has a number of delightful titles to her credit, both as illustrator and author. One can hope that all of these works will soon be published in English-language versions. VERDICT Young children will enjoy this board book's whimsical wit and artistry. A winner." Susan Weitz, formerly at Spencer-Van Etten School District, Spencer, NY

"Little readers will adore the clean-cut illustrations and sharply contrasted compositions that burst with color at the book's end. And who can't love these little guys? They are adorable as they romp and play. A smartly paced and sweetly drawn story for little readers" - Kirkus "Stylish and clever...a big payoff for cats and readers" - Publishers Weekly "Young children will enjoy this board book's

We've been showing this book to our baby girl every morning. She loves it! She's only two months old but her eyes are super attracted to the black and white.

Cute little book and great conversation starter with little ones about multiple issues from image construction to appearance differences and friendship. Plus, cats!

My son LOVES this book. Great contrast for little eyes. We ordered multiple for our friends with babies as well. Great price point, durable, and loved by my kiddo!

This is the first book my 3-month-old granddaughters have totally focused on. Highly recommended!

My 3 month loves the contrast of colors. I think the book is super cute, too!

Baby liked it okay but maybe she's too old for it. Or too young? I don't think she understood what happened when the cats disappeared into one another's houses. On the one had, that's over her head, but on the other the black and white pictures are something she's moved beyond. (She's eleven months). I'm not a huge fan of the prose.

Great first book for baby because of the black and white but also entertaining for older children as well. Highly recommend!

This has become a really popular book in my house - cats and high contrast pictures? It is a big win for my little one who loves both. He has five or six cat books and this is his favorite. We'll read it three or four times in one evening. We practice counting the cats and saying colors. It really is a cute book, and I am glad that I got it for him.
