Customer Reviews

After spending a decade dedicated to exploring most of the world, Sascha Zuger is quite certain the only place she could happily call home is the wild, beautiful state of New York. Though firmly ensconced in the tiny Catskill mountain village of Woodstock, Sascha frequently makes the short journey to NYC to take advantage of the arts, culture, and pure energy of the city—whether taking in a Broadway show, new eatery or exhibit opening, or loitering in her favorite Greenwich Village coffee shop. Sascha enjoys sharing her passion for travel and the hidden gems unearthed during her wanderings in dozens of publications, including National Geographic Traveler, Gourmet, O Magazine, Food Network Magazine, Cookie, WIRED, The Washington Post, the Los Angeles Times, and in her occasional commentary for NPR-affiliate KWMU. Much of Sascha's former life as a sailor and world-wandering, dolphin-training, shark-diving beach bum can be read about in her novels, Girl Overboard and Will Work for Prom Dress (under the pseudonym Aimee Ferris); her memoir, Dancing Under Water; and "Sacrifice Play" in her contribution to the essay collection Blessings: Reflections on Gratitude, Love, and What Makes Us Happy.

There is a number for Empire boat tours that hasn't been active for over 10 years. While this book offers some great suggestions you should check the listings before your trip. In a time when everyone is on the internet it isn't hard to search for tours and accommodations. The thousand islands region is one of our favorite spots. While the author finds Boldt Castle dreary, most people we know and ourselves are fascinated by touring the castle and its restoration is just about complete. The billiard room is gorgeous and the castle hosts many weddings.

This guide is called a Spotlight since it covers only a part of their bigger New York Guide, which is just what I wanted. As usual, you will find historical stuff and comprehensive listings here you won't find elsewhere.

Great book. Love it. Received it in less than a week. Has lots of great information in it so we can plan our trip.
