Emily Bolam is a well known illustrator of over one hundred books for young children. Her first idea for a children's book began as a college project and was published upon her graduation.

Our baby likes this book. The high contrast, shiny metallic imagery grabbed her attention at three weeks old. Some recommended companion books I also suggest: Spots and Dots (Art-Baby) Tummy Time Playboard + Art Cards

We have LOOK LOOK! and our baby (2 months old) loves it, she will stare at the pages for up to 30 minutes. I ordered this book to give some variety. This seems to be like the next step up after the LOOK LOOK! book. LOOK LOOK! has patterned pages that are all black and white, this one has different bugs on each page that are mostly black and white with one bright and shiny spot. I think it will keep my baby entertained just as well or better than the other book. I love that it's a board book that can be stood up so the baby can look at it while laying down. I set it up on the edge of the play gym where she has lots of toys to look at but she usually ends up staring at her black/white books. It's about 6" square with 5 pages (10 bugs).

My four month old son loves this book! His attention is kept longer with this book because of the colors and the sounds that you (the reader) make with each reading,. So, for example, there is a page with a picture of a dragonfly and it has the sound "zuzz zuzz", which my son loves to listen to me say out loud. Absolutely love this book and I do recommend it.

My son is just approaching the three week mark and has loved this book since week one. He will quietly study each page as I show him. It's a great way to settle him before diaper changes and encourage a few moments more of tummy time. My mom was amazed when she saw how intently he stared at the illustrations. Granted, he doesn't pay attention long, but it does keep his attention for the whole book. The book itself is sturdy and well made. The contrast of the bright pops of shiny color against the black and white illustrations are easy for infants to see. Highly recommend!

Our 4 week old loves looking at the pictures and this book is a great way to start reading to your little one. The drawings have high contrast and his big eyes are drawn to the bright colors. High quality paper and printing.

My baby loves this book! He is 6months now but I started reading it to him when he was 2 or 3 months old. the simple black and white pictures are perfect for little baby eyes that don't recognize color and the shiny foil parts really catch his attention. Words are simple and it keeps his attention better than any baby book we have. He never gets bored with it. I think this book is a must have as a baby's first book!

My infants love to look at these books. We use them daily! The contrast photos are perfect for their adjusting eyes. We also have "Hello, Animals."

My 2 month old loves this book. The black and white are ideal for her age. Also, there is a nice pop of colored foil on each page. Very happy with this book!
