Animal Box: 100 Postcards By 10 Artists

Synopsis

Cats, dogs, hens, foxes, lions, tigers, even lemursâ ” this character-filled collection, curated by Brooklyn-based artist and illustrator Happy Menocal, features one hundred animal postcards from ten celebrated artists: Katharine Barnwell, Ben Giles, David Howell, Charlotte Linton, Geoffrey Martin, Menocal, Alice Pattullo, Sirichai, Adrien Vermont, and Kazumi Yoshida. The colorful cards, in our popular postcard box format, are ideal for correspondence, display, or a little company. A booklet about the artists highlights their creative processes, influences, and favorite creatures.

"Dog lovers are animal lovers and this box of 100 postcards by 10 artists features nothing but our furry, feathered and finned friends. The colorful cards were curated by Brooklyn-based artist Happy Menocal and come with a booklet highlighting each artist's creative process, influences and favorite creatures."-CityDog magazine
"The artists' wildly different styles remind us how many different ways there are of looking at a given creature." -Fast Co.Design

Happy Menocal is a New York-based artist. She works mostly in watercolour and ink. She has a fine stationery line, sells limited edition prints of her work, and makes commissioned pieces for individuals and some companies, like Aerin, Anthropologie, Jonathan Adler, Stubbs & Wootton and Vogue.

I got these post cards for the "Ides of Trump" campaign on 3/15/17, so I didn't care a ton how they looked, but I gotta say they are really nice cards! The card stock is great, and the printing is crisp and clear. The design is subjective, of course, but if I was sending them to friends and family, there are only a few I might skip. Definitely worth the 4.98 I paid!

Nice, thick cardstock. But most of the images are not to my taste. The very best ones are shown on the outside of the box. There is a full artist's set that I might as well just toss. I would be embarrassed to send them.

These are amazing! I do Postcrossing and am always in search of new and different postcards. There are works from 10 different artists included (a booklet is included in the box that gives a brief bio of each artist, as well as brief Q&As from each). Wild animals, farm animals, domestic animals, birds, fish, and many other varieties are pictured on each card. Styles vary from oils and gouaches, psychedelic, black and white, stylized, portraiture, and others. Although I bought these to use for Postcrossing, they're beautiful enough that I'm framing some for my animal-loving granddaughter's room. I wish there were similar box sets like this for other interests, as well.

This has a wonderful variety of animal art, on quality paper, all packed in a neat little box. There are ten different artists that contributed, and the styles vary from traditional & classic, to modern, artsy & inbetween. I had been looking at these for a while, then saw them drop to $5, so I couldn't pass them up. There are a lot of these 100 postcard boxes in various themes, and most retail around $20-25. I have the majority of theirs around $12-$16, so this one is a steal. Honestly, now that I've seen firsthand just how nice these are, I plan on getting some more. The Art of Disney one is next on my list. I can't agree with the original retail price, but I think that any of these sets are well worth $10-12, maybe $15 for a particular theme that I needed for a gift.

For the price you can't beat it... Geoffry Martins, Katharine Barnwell are spectacular...BUT David Howell is marginal & Adrien Vermont and Kazumi Yoshida are pathetic. To call them artists is a joke, great if they were in preschool & when they weren't looking you'd throw it away. Takes a time to come but I enjoy dropping people a note & for that they are perfect.

I am very happy with this purchase. The postcards are great quality. They are sturdy and you can use any pen when writing on them without fear of smudging. I loved the artistic liberty taken with the images. There are no cards here that I would deem "inappropriate" some are traditionally drawn others are quite avant-garde. I have gotten very positive feedback from postcrossing recipients that have referred to some as charming, edgy, and interesting.

A huge variety of lovely animal postcards! The postcards do not have lines for the address or a separation line between the message and the address, so I just quickly take a ruler and a pen and add those in myself. All in all, the cards have is lots of variety, with different art styles, all kinds of animals from all over the world. I do not really like Adrien Vermont's art style, but that is just my personal taste. I am not sure that I will be sending those. However, the other 9 artist produced very beautiful drawings and paintings, and I will certainly be mailing those. The printing on the cards is very high quality (none of the images sare pixelated), and the colours are nice and vibrant and bright. Each postcard is 9.8 cm by 14.2 cm. It's a very wonderful set for the price!

I send a lot of postcards doing Postcrossing and this set has gotten a lot of use due to the wide range of animals- there's something for everyone's favorite. Some of the art is more realistic and some is more modern or child-like, but the cards themselves are quality and take pen well on the writing side. I expect these will all be used up quickly and the ones that I've sent overseas so far usually end up tagged as favorites. The box that they arrive in with the dividers is also nice and sturdy.
