If I asked you to list the games you played as a child, or the people you've kissed, a colorful assortment of memories would surface that are unique to you. Many of us don't have the time or inclination to write our autobiography, so I created the Listography Books and listography.com to help capture all the experiences that make up your life: a sweet little time capsule. ã I've rediscovered many lost memories by making lists, and I'm glad I found them. Now that they're in my lists, they'll never be lost to me, and I am creating a map of my experience here on earth. The meditative process of making a list reminds us of how beautiful the details of our life are, and it can inspire us, but most importantly, it's fun!

Lisa Nola is the creator of the Listography Book series and the popular list-making website, listography.com.

I've purchased several "list" books, and this is one of my favorites. I had many listing books for several years before purchasing this book, and I loved those books as well. This book, has a wide range of questions to it, it's mostly if not entirely related to love and/or sex. It's a GREAT conversation starter, and I've had several multiple-hour conversations due to the content inside. I personally use it to learn more about people, and it really has brought out some great ideas and conversations. I'd recommend that anyone buy this book. It's fun from both a guy's and a gal's perspective but certainly for couples. I'd say that a lot of the questions are geared toward couples but can be done by one person as well, if you're the type, it could possibly be fun in a group setting as well.

You'll have to be the nonjealous type to do this with your significant other as some of the questions involve fantasies about other people, etc. We leave about half of the space for each other but are still enjoying it a lot. For one person, it'd be perfect. I will say, though, that I was kinda surprised at - when I peeled the sticker off of the back of my book, I noticed that it was about eight shades lighter than the dark tan that my book was - I guess it was a little dirty?

Fun to do with a partner.

This List book is especially fun. I'm thinking of giving this out to friends and family (etc.) for Valentines Day.

I gave this book as a gift to my bestfriend. It's absolutely adorable and now I want one. It calms the OCD person inside of me who wants to put EVERYTHING into lists :)

I thought the lists would be better for this one. The travel and original are great.. I want this as Something to do with my SO, but some a lot the lists were kinda depressing wonderful great!
