Dawn DeVries Sokol (Tempe, AZ) worked her way from designing newspapers to art directing magazines. From her studio she now designs books for publishers across the U.S. while playing in her art journals, crocheting and soldering.

There were sadly too many ugly AJ pages in this book....or ugly is a wrong word cause there are no mistakes in art. Let's rather say they were not the kind of pages I find beautiful and interesting.

Not my favorite book because it is too much collage art and not enough painting drawing type journaling.

I've been wanting to get into making an art journal, and I love this version of "scrapbooking" that intermixes art with verbal expression, so this book really provides a variety of ideas for creating a personal masterpiece. Many are very intricate, but I'm good at seeing ways to blend concepts. There are no "how-to" segments in this book, so if you're looking for the "how" of creating pages for your art journal or aren't able to see how the artists created their pages, you might want to look into taking a class or finding a DIY book on the subject.

I love this book because it has given me a lot of great ideas to use in my own collage art. Just reading about the contributors is inspiring also. I love to peruse other people's work to see where their creativity is taking them and this is a great summary of many individuals' work. There are a lot of different styles presented and it is easy to get sidetracked from your own projects while you look at the work of the artist's work shown here.

I love this book! I have tons of artists' sketchbooks, journals, mixed-media books, book crafting & everything in between. I'm kind of a junkie when it comes to books. This is one of my favorites! It features hundreds of artists so the different styles cover the globe. The pictures are great! Most techniques are pretty basic & the materials used are mostly self explanatory. The ONLY change would be a little list of materials used for each page but its not needed. I'm only halfway through & have stopped only to do pages of my own that 1,000Pages inspired!

This book is WAY more interesting and unique than the scrapbooky polka-dot cut-out cover suggests. It has every kind and style of journal pages from EVERY kind of artist from all over the world, and I find it endlessly inspiring. I love it. I'm so glad I didn't pass it by because of the scraptastic cover.

I am quite new at doing any kind of journaling, especially in an artistic way. This book is filled with examples of wonderful pages to learn from. I have earmarked several pages with notes on them as to why I have chosen them. The images are nice and large and the only text is the artist's name and country. For once a book you don't have to wade through a lot of unnecessary paragraphs. Just images!! Glorious examples of differing styles of journaling with art and lettering.

Love the book, but if you download it on Kindle, be forewarned that most of the images are two-page spreads, and both pages comprise of an image of about 3" x 5" on your computer screen. The majority of the screen is white. Ridiculous price for such images. I both this in book form also, which is great. I wish I could get my money back and delete this for Kindle.
