The Women of Christmas: Experience the Season Afresh with Elizabeth, Mary, and Anna This book is a very interesting study of several women involved in the Christmas Story. Liz writes in an informative, yet very entertaining way. She shows how we can incorporate lessons learned from these Biblical women into our own lives. Liz examines the lives of Elizabeth, Mary and Anna and their relationship to the birth of Christ. She does a wonderful job of digging deep into the Scriptures and the cultural background of the times, to give us glimpses into these women's lives. I learned so much about the culture and how it affected the lives of these women. There is a study guide in the back that makes it useful for individual or group study. I would recommend this study to enrich your walk into the Christmas season. If you found this review to be helpful, please take a moment to mark it as such. Thanks!

I led my small group in this excellent study over the holiday season. I feel I can share on all of our behalf's and say that this was a very meaningful study. Liz Higgs takes a close look at the lives of the three women of the Christmas story, Elizabeth, Mary and Anna. I loved the thought provoking insights that Ms Higgs had for each of the women, but I felt I could relate more with her in sights on Elizabeth. I recommend this study for small groups especially during the holiday season.

I led my Life Group (8 women) through this study for four (4) weeks, two chapters each week. We were all awestruck with Mary ... a baby herself, giving birth to the Lord of lords and King of kings. The discussion about her and how she felt when she held Him in her arms for the first time, parenting Him, raising and training Him, only to let Him go and do what God had sent Him to earth to do. Knowing your child's fate and not being able to control it. Powerful teaching. The question came up "Mary, did she know?" I believe she did .. because the Angel told her she found favor from God to be the Mother of our Savior .. so how could she not know His fate? This little book is full of wonderful insights into the three women .. Elizabeth, Mary and Anna. It amazes me what insight Liz Curtis Higgs brings to the table .. the in depth study she has done on these women. We can learn so much from young Mary. So much wisdom from a 12-1/2 year old. So much faith and immediate obedience. Oh wouldn't life be so much simpler if I were like Mary? Or Anna...who prayed continuously? Or Elizabeth who never gave up on her dream and prayed without ceasing and God honored her in her old ago (what was old back then anyway)? Beautifully written. Inspiring. Must read for all.

When I spotted this Christmas book, my mind immediately went to a sweet friend that loves this author. I hurried online to order it as a Christmas gift. Lo and behold..sorry, had to do it..it's the season..I found a place that said if you gave the book as a gift, the author would bless you with a free copy. FREE..so I just had to get into that. Sorry, it's probably over. It was a while ago. So I was also blessed with a copy of this book. What a deal! Not expecting a great deal, I opened it and became fascinated with Liz Curtis Higgs take on the lives of Elizabeth, Mary and Anna. Tucked between the pages are scriptures and comments from ordinary ladies like myself. Some aren't really deep but the fact is, the story touched each lady at her point of need and growth in God's word. Elizabeth, wife of Zechariah, who was barren, all of a sudden was pregnant while burdened with a husband who was struck dumb while ministering in the temple. Elizabeth, whose child in the womb jumped for joy when he heard the voice of his Savior's mother, was probably the first human to encourage the young, newly pregnant Mary. When Ms Higgs got to Mary, what a refreshing point of view! Not some super person but a girl that God knew would step up and say "yes". God never had to have a plan B! Anna, the prophetess, who saw the baby Jesus in the temple and hurried over. (She must have been a dimple pincher!) She was so plugged into the Holy Spirit, she couldn't help herself. Here was the redemption of Jerusalem and she wasn't going to miss it. Not content to see, she went away, telling all that would hear and encouraging all who longed for His coming. Whoa! At the end is a bonus study guide. I can't wait to finish that. I would recommend this to any lady this Christmas. My giftee called and she loved it so it makes a nice gift. Don't miss it.

I loved the conversational style of this book. It was amazing to literally take the story verse by verse. Liz brought out a lot of ideas that made me really think about some of the facts of the Christmas Story in a different way. I actually used this book at my church as an Advent Study and followed her suggestion of using the movie The Nativity as a companion video for the book. The actual book focused on three very important women within the Christmas story - Elizabeth, Mary and Anna. Her descriptions and explanations brought the characters to life and truly made you "walk" in their shoes. I would recommend this book to anyone who wants to go deeper into the lives of those women within the Christmas Story. Thank you WaterBrook for sending me this copy in exchange for only my honest review.
