Johanna Basford is an illustrator and ink evangelist who prefers pens and pencils to pixels. Her intricate, hand-drawn illustrations are loved the world over by those who have colored in (sometimes more than once) her bestselling books Lost Ocean, Secret Garden and Enchanted Forest. Johanna is a graduate of Duncan of Jordanstone College of Art and Design in Dundee. She likes sugar mice, floral teacups, peonies, and bumblebees. Visit her online at johannabasford.com.

I love these. They come in a new packaging, kind of. It's like this added attached piece to the booklet which is cute. I added some more photos for you guys.

These are heavy, stiff postcards using a number of the designs from the "Lost Ocean" coloring book.....but even smaller! Have a good pencil sharpener, and use it often! I do love that these are smaller, stand-alone designs. Some are all-over that extend to the edges of the cards, but many are a single motif centered, and leaving room for an impressionistic background. Given the smaller sizes, too, I am less tempted to get crazy obsessive with individual cells, and shading and blending. I am having fun with these!

These are actual post cards with address lines and stamp outline on the back. The card stock is heavy - about the same as an average postcard - so should take markers with little or no bleed thru. However most of the designs are so small and intricate that they are best suited to the finest tipped markers or gel pens. People that have trouble coloring very tiny areas would likely have trouble. The 36 cards are unique and wonderful. Useful for all occasions!

I love Johanna Basford's work. I fell in love with the lost ocean coloring book so I got the postcards for a smaller quick coloring fix. The designs are the same from the book. In some postcards the design is a close up of a section of the original. However some postcards are the entire picture from the original book but shrunk. For these postcards the coloring spaces are quite tiny. I have fine tip markers but some of the areas are micro. The postcards are a nice thick card stock. Overall satisfied. Happy coloring.

Looooove these postcards! The lines and spaces to color are a lot more thin than the regular sized coloring book, but that's to be expected. It was still do-able with a sharpened color pencil or, I used a .3mm tipped Staedtler pen, and it worked great. Love the art work and the post cards are good quality. Only complaint is that they're a little bit smaller than an average postcard which makes it tough to write a lot on the back... but I love the quality and pictures enough to buy this again for sure!

These images might be small but they are detailed beautifully. Joanna Basford is my favorite artist for adult coloring. The postcards do not take extra postage.

i got these to color and write a short letter to my granny... i thought that she would like the brightness and the color as she was in end stage dementia... they are the same drawings as the book, just smaller..... sometimes the tiny detail is a little hard to see and color but over all one can never ever go wrong with Johanna Basford's work... loved it.

These designs are beautiful however they are way too small. I purchased for a grandfather and 8 year old granddaughter to work on and neither would have enjoyed doing them due to the intricacy of the designs. You'd simply be making a lot of dots with the finest color markers available to complete some of these. Not appropriate for my intended audience.
