Psychology Of Disability: Second Edition (Springer Series On Rehabilitation)

Synopsis

The realities surrounding the psychological experience of disability, plus the intervention techniques used to resolve some of the problems, have changed dramatically since the publication of the first edition of this classic text. This revised edition describes changes that have come out of the Americans with Disabilities Act, as well as technological advances, new legislation, and evolving health care systems. It addresses the growing interest in racial and ethnic diversity, and includes an exploration of spirituality and disability, as well as a look at new partnerships, such as within the community, that have developed.

Customer Reviews

"Destined to become an instant classic. These renowned clinicians/authors offer a dizzying array of contemporary, disability-based topics written in an entertaining, practical, concise, jargon-free style. They offer innumerable clinical vignettes to underscore their message....This book is a must read for both the fledgling student and the veteran rehabilitation professional. One only stands to gain by reading this most comprehensive resource." --Lester Butt, PhD, ABPP, Diplomate in Rehabilitation Psychology, American Board of Professional Psychology Fellow, American Psychological Association, Chairman of the Department of Psychology, Craig Hospital, Englewood, CO

Came sooner than expected, great price. Was the exact book I needed and in great condition

Book was perfect and arrived just in time

I found this book to be interesting, though it was short , the points made by the author really hit home for me.

Nancy Crewe was my advisor and a giant in her field.

I used it for a book in school and nothing was wrong with it. I did not actually read the book I only used it for my assignments

Outdated, and dull graphically!

Honest seller. Product exactly as promised. Great eBayer

This book was a required reading for a Masters class... clear and easily understood, if a little simplistic... common sense for anyone who has worked in the field for a while but overall a good collection of information.
