Customer Reviews

"Pimsleur programs provide plenty of positive reinforcement that will keep learners on track, and we found that Pimsleur gave us more proficiency and confidence in speaking the new language than any of the other language programs we reviewed." -- AudioFile Magazine"EXTREMELY

Dr. Paul Pimsleur devoted his life to language teaching and testing and was one of the world's leading experts in applied linguistics. After years of experience and research, Dr. Pimsleur developed The Pimsleur Method based on two key principles:Â the Principle of Anticipation and a scientific principle of memory training that he called "Graduated Interval Recall."Â This Method has been applied to the many levels and languages of the Pimsleur Programs.

This just arrived this week. I listen to the CD's in the car. Each lesson is about 30 minutes. I find that I have to listen to them 3x each, but that might be me. What I really like is that not only am I learning the language so that I can converse, but there are listening portions too. That helps me with understanding what I hear.The problem (one problem) I've had with Greek is that I can't tell where one word begins and another ends. Something I picked up in the first lesson with Pimsleur is that the words tend to run together. It's the way it's spoken.So far, so good. At first I wanted to SEE the words, this course is on audio only. But after I gave up that idea, I simply listened. I think I'm a visual learner, so I didn't hold out much hope, but I find that as I go about my day I can recall the words and phrases I learned. The fact that each syllable is enunciated repeatedly helps too. I feel like I'm pronouncing the words properly.Right now I'm very hopeful. If/when I order the next level, I'll report back.

Audio without flashcards. It's well prescribed, but at least for me, if I don't see the written words , it's a little difficult to follow. I've gone to some online translators and created written flash cards to go along, and then I understand much better. While the lessons don't teach conjugation, etc. in a formal way, one can understand those aspects just by seeing the written word. So with just a little work it could be very useful, as it is, just OK & needing other supplementation.

This one consists of the first 16 lessons out of the total 30 lessons. You should not get this abridged version if you want to progress to Greek Level II. I recommend to check your public library for the full version for both Level I and Level II. The full CD sets are manufactured by Recorded Books LLC who is careless about the manufacturing process (some CD album names are set to Russian or German). At least there is no skipping in sound.

I love Pimsleur for language acquisition. You go through the cds as you are driving to work - but the best part is when you get to the country, you actually can use what you learned. Fantastic set of language cds.

Great way to learn conversational languages, we have several different languages. Some we have graduated to advanced courses. This is a way to learn a new language in the car. No books and verb conjugations. Just learn to speak. CAUTION; When overseas, your pronunciation will be very good. You will not have the "gringo accent" so the native speakers will think you are more fluent than you actually are. On business trips, people will be thrilled that you are trying to learn their language and culture and will go out of their way to help you.

This helped me to prepare for a trip to Greece. It was well presented, but it would have been helpful to at least have some sort of printed reference for the lessons -- not necessarily a text, but something to refer to when they are pronouncing words and you need to distinguish between "m" and "n", or "t" and "d", or you aren't sure if it's a single word or multiple words together.

I got this course to gain a working knowledge of the language before vacationing in Greece. I really like this course because the 30 minute lessons are easy to understand and are just long enough to learn something useful without causing brain fatigue. I like the way each lesson builds on the preceding one with a review of what was learned before, before proceeding into new material. The lesson format is a bit like a good workout at the gym - first a "warm-up" using what you have learned before, then adding a few new words or phrases, then about 16 minutes into the lesson, a bigger challenge making different types of sentences and phrases, both in statement and question form using all your previously learned language skills, and for the last 5 minutes or so a "cool-down" where you listen and repeat and integrate all of the lesson content. With the CDs it is easy to listen at home or especially making use of travel time in the car. The male and female speakers dialoguing are very helpful for correct pronunciation and confidence speaking the language. This course teaches one how to say certain set phrases, but more than this, it gives you the grammatical knowledge of how to recombine words to construct your own phrases in Greek. I found I am learning grammatical constructions painlessly. This is a purely audio course which I think makes it easier to learn since there is no distraction of having to visualize words or letters. However, a visual person might find they need to see the word in print.

I purchased this program just because I'm interested in learning Greek (no plans to visit nor do I know anyone who speaks it fluently), and I have a 40-minute roundtrip commute every day. This is such a great and convenient way to learn a unique language at an extremely affordable price! I agree that it doesn't provide a ton of nouns or other vocab, but certainly provides the basics and foundation for learning even more in the future. (Or even picking it up from fluent speakers.) I'm planning on "trading up" to the comprehensive package once I complete it (only about 4 lessons to go), so that's a very nice feature as well. Highly recommend this to anyone curious about learning a new and interesting language!
