Customer Reviews

With this book Marc and Rob have compiled years of guide knowledge into one location destined to become the best reference for advanced recreational climbers and guides alike. Whether you are looking to work on multi-pitch efficiency or prep and review information for taking AMGA Guide courses, this book is the best single resource available. This book is one of my favorite resources and is a "must pack" when I travel to train and examine guides. --Dale Remsberg, Technical Director, the American Mountain Guides Association

Marc Chauvin and Rob Coppelillo are both certified by the International Federation of Mountain Guides Association (IFMGA). Chauvin helped create the American Mountain Guides Association in the 1990s and has assisted in developing their curricula over the past 25 years. He is currently the senior member of the AMGA Instruction Team. Coppelillo has written for Climbing and Skiing, and is a contributing editor for Elevation Outdoors magazine. He is the author of Holy Spokes: A Biking Bible for Everyone.

Excellent and up to date book, the pen on the pictures is just a size reference.

Alpine climbing programs need more books like this. Very well laid out and filled with practical tips and information. I particularly enjoyed the sections covering transitions between different kinds of terrain. I had a chance to implement many aspects of this book in the course I run. I had only wished I had this book in my hands sooner!

Good concise information with up to date information.

Best book available for "advanced" techniques of functioning safely and efficiently in the mountains!
Marc did a great job with this one.

Covers many technical issue that come up
