Customer Reviews

Gwenaël Petiot was raised in Aix-en-Provence, France. In 2007, he traveled to South America, where he was introduced to macramé, the craft that would become his passion. Soon after his return to France, Gwenaël debuted his pieces on the catwalk as part of the spring 2012 haute couture collection for the French designer Anne Valérie Hash, creating a media sensation with his designs. To date, Gwenaël has produced many macramé designs under Papacho Creations and sells these at handmade markets, online, and at retail. He has also been commissioned to create jewelry accessories for the well-known Cirque du Soleil. He currently lives in Paris.

Love this book. The projects are distinctive and well documented. I usually make one or two projects from most of the references I purchase. However, I'm well on the way to making all the projects contained in the book--and learning new techniques along the way.

There are a few new books on macrame but this one is the most inspiring. The projects use the standard knots but in very original ways and the colors the artist selected for his work are just wonderful. Didn't give the book five stars because it is limited to jewelry projects and since I don't make jewelry that was disappointing. Maybe it could have been called "Bohemian Macrame Jewelry?" That said, this book is a beautiful thing so I will refer to it often for inspiration.

This is a great book! I love the projects and I understand the instructions well!! Lots of color pictures to show instructions!!!

I am astounded by these beautiful project ideas and thoroughness of explanations in how to's.

Such interesting designs, done by a true artist.

easy to follow instructions. directions are super clear.

Easy to understand instructions.

Great introduction to macramé done on a small scale as opposed to the large scale items from the 70's.
