Joe and Sarah Perry married in 1999 in Oklahoma. Sarah graduated from Rhema Bible Training Center (www.rhema.org) in 1996, then she attended nursing school. In January of 2016 she was Licensed as a Minister with F.C.F. International. Joe has a business degree and manages his own lawn care business. They have 2 beautiful girls and a special Boston Terrier breed dog, Dixie.

Excellent book to help children learn how to discern the true path to God (salvation) through Jesus Christ...also helps teach them how to share the Truth of the Word to those who THINK there are many ways to God. Encourages them to be 'missionaries' - 'sent ones' WHEREVER God has called them.... home or abroad. Very clear truth presented. I expect many children to give their hearts to Jesus and follow God's calling as this book is read to them.

Children love puppy dogs and Sarah Perry's missionary dog characters will capture their little imaginations. Dixie, a Boston terrier, is not an ordinary dog but a christian dog sent on a mission to spread the gospel of God's love to Mongolia. Children will enjoy Dixie's travels as she meets new friends and co-workers along the way as well as learning of God's love for us. The crafts in the back of the book are a nice way to interact with your child while discussing God's love for them and the call we all have to be a witness for Him whether it is in Mongolia or our own backyard.

I bought this book for my daughter because I wanted to teach her, in a fun way, about spreading the word. I was pleasantly surprised at how involved she was. I know she really enjoyed doing the crafts and would act out scenes while I would read the story. The best part was seeing her involve her other toys when spreading the word. I'm rating this book with 5 stars because my daughter was not only interested in the book and Crafts, but she got her friends interested too!

I bought The Missionary Dog book for my granddaughter and we read it together. I like how the author included scripture verses in the book. What an original idea to include crafts along with the book. We both enjoyed this book so much that I donated one to my local library. I was pleasantly surprised to enjoy the book myself. I did not know much about Mongolia and so I learned something new. I highly recommend this book for Grandma's as well as children.

Sarah Perry has written a delightful book for Christian children to inspire them to share Jesus with others, but it can also be used to interest children who have not yet heard the gospel. The book is beautifully illustrated and even has craft cutouts in the back. The dog characters are unique and likeable. Congratulations, Sarah, on creating such a quality children's book.

What a neat perspective on sharing the gospel! Easy for kids & adults alike to read, understand and put into actions the clever lessons throughout. Sarah makes learning about worldwide discipleship fun! Moms, you'll love reading this with your kids of all ages & will find it's a great gift to give others too!!

Finally, a book to help teach children to be missionaries. This is a great book to encourage kids to get out there and be the hands and feet of Jesus in a fun way that speaks to them. The Illustration is so fun. My kids loved different military dogs. We can't wait to to read more books from Sarah Perry.

What a wonderful book!! The colorful illustrations are charming. What fun the crafts will be for kids and adults alike. Such original ideas, reminds me of a Sunday School lesson with crafts all in one book. I would think someone would want multiple copies for Sunday School children.
