Colortronic Animals: A Kaleidoscopic Coloring Challenge

Synopsis

Color-by-Number updated for today's coloring book fans! Love coloring? Love animals? Colortronic Animals combines the two in 64 pages of wonderful illustrations, all featuring an easy-to-use number system. When finished, each illustration will showcase a bright and brilliant palette. (After all, why should a zebra have only black-and-white stripes?) Because you'll want to display these, each page is perforated, making it easy to tear out for framing.

This was way better than I expected it to be. The book is large. Each picture has a different color grid so you aren't using the same colors all the time. I like to use markers and they cover the numbers pretty well. I will definitely buy another one for my daughter.

This is my first Colortronic coloring book so I didn't really know what to expect. The designs are beautifully drawn and the suggested colors are very vibrant and create a stunning project. I followed the colors suggested for my first project except that I did not use a background color as yet. It was so much fun that I am considering buying two of the book - one to follow the colors by and one with which to do my own color choices. I used Copic markers and then came back and enhanced the colors and some shading with Polychromos pencils. I found that using both gave a depth of color to the project and allowed me to fine tune my color choices for a more balanced looking project. Apart from the color choices, the animals are drawn realistically without “doodles” •. The designs are detailed but are not overly intricate. I had no problems using any of my medium in the color areas. The color numbers do show through unless I used an extremely dark or opaque color. I'd love it if the artist/publisher also published the same pictures in a regular line drawn coloring book but I am sold on their style of color by number. This is what I found while coloring in the book and testing my coloring medium on the paper. 29 Beautiful Animal Designs in a Color by Number format Designs printed on one side of the page with color guide on the binding side of the perforations Paper is heavyweight, white, slightly rough and micro-perforated Sewn Binding Designs do not cross over the perforations. Each design has a framing line at the outer edge. I could get the book to lay fairly flat for coloring with a little effort. Alcohol-based markers bleed through the page. If you use this medium, I suggest using a blotter page to keep ink from seeping through. I use card stock but a couple of pages of paper should work as well. It will bleed through to the quote on the back of the page, which doesn't bother me, but I want to note it if it is an issue for you. Water-based markers, India ink pens and gel pens do not bleed through the page. Some do leave slight and indistinct shadows on the back of the page. Some gel pens require additional drying time. Colored pencils worked well with this paper. It has good “tooth” and allowed for applying layers of the same color to get rich pigment. I could also layer multiple colors well and I could blend both oil and wax based pencils easily with a pencil style blending stick.

I am the owner of the first and original Colortronic book: A Kaleidoscopic Coloring Challenge and am a huge fan of this book so imagine my excitement when I found out that they announced a second book was coming out of their designs! The first book has lots of colors in a rainbow fashion that highlights each picture in a unique fashion. So imagine my surprise when this book arrived and I saw the finished pictures at the book. Apparently the author(s) or designer(s) extremely favor the colors purple and green in several vast shades. While I usually do not mind sticking to certain colors, this book makes it difficult to find all these shades in gel pens, markers and even some colored pencils because of so many different shades of just one color. This is supposed to be relaxing! Also, if at all possible, please give some sample pages of what I will be coloring! If I could have seen what I would be coloring first, sadly I would have not purchased this book and repurchased the first one!

I love Colortronic coloring books! The pictures are large and are clearly marked for easy coloring. There is a color guide on the margin of each page - different each picture. My one issue is that some pictures have 3-5 very similar shades, so if you want an exact match you have to have the largest pack of markers available. The paper is thick and handles Sharpie, Crayola Washable markers, and colored pencils. Areas to color range from very small to very large (background), so having fine and broad line markers can be helpful.

I like this book a lot....however, I don't use it for coloring. I paint the pictures with opaque paints--only by mixing colors can I get the vast array of colors required for all the pictures, and also cover up the lines and numbers. I did one with water-based markers and it just looked silly, but the painted pictures come out pretty nice. See photo of a couple of them done with paint (I did change the background color on the elephant)

I love to color but sometimes I just want to color and not have to think up color palettes. This where this book comes in. Not only are the designs cute but the designer picked awesome and unusual color pallets to choose from. Every page I've colored has come out amazing and beautiful. Even if I don't have the exact shade as suggested, my coloring still looks great. The paper is thick, single sided and perforated for easy removal. I've been using my Tombow markers with no issues. I can even blend 2 shades and the paper takes it with no bleed thru. I'm seriously addicted to this book. I've had it 2 days and have colored almost 10 pages. I'm eagerly awaiting the next book.

AAA+

We colored the other Colortronic adult coloring book. We had a lot of fun. Just started coloring in Colortronic Animals. Nice quality paper and nothing on back side, so can use pencils, crayons, or markers. We take out pages of the book to share. The only drawback is, the colors and numbers which correlate with the page are hard to take out and use as a guide if you take page with animal out. Nice to learn how different shades of one color can work in a picture.
