Hunt For Zero Point

Synopsis

In 1966 a group of highly respected aerospace engineers revealed that US scientists were perfecting ways to control gravity. They predicted a breakthrough would come by the end of the decade, ushering in an era of limitless, clean propulsion for a new breed of fuelless transport systems - and weapons beyond our imagination. Of course it never happened. Or did it? Forty years later a chance encounter with one of the engineers who made that prediction forces a highly sceptical aerospace and defence journalist, Nick Cook, to consider the possibility that America did indeed crack the gravity code - and has covered up ever since. His investigations moved from the corridors of NASA to the dark heartland of America's classified weapons establishment, where it became clear that half a century ago, in the dying days of the Third Reich, Nazi scientists were racing to perfect a Pandora's Box of high technology that would deliver Germany from defeat. History says that they failed. But the trail that takes Cook deep into the once-impenetrable empire of SS General Hans Kammler - the man charged by Adolf Hitler with perfecting German secret weapons technology - says otherwise. In his pursuit of the true facts behind Kammler, Cook finally establishes the truth: America is determined to hang onto its secrets, but the stakes are enormous and others are now in the race to acquire a suppressed technology.

Customer Reviews

"Classic sleuthing journalism - I couldn't put it down" New Scientist "Cook relates his investigations in splendid cloak-and-dagger style with low-lit X-files scenes of secret meetings and nervous witnesses" Guardian "An extraordinary investigation into aviation's greatest mystery" Mail on Sunday

Nick Cook is the Aviation Editor of Jane's Defence Weekly, the world's leading military affairs journal, a position he has held for 12 years. He has also written for national UK newspapers including The Times, Sunday Times and Sunday Telegraph, and has had many of his stories syndicated worldwide. Hunt For Zero Point is the culmination of a five-year investigation into an undocumented technological phenomenon. Nick Cook is a world-leading defence journalist.

Excellent science that reads like science fiction, but it's all true!

There is nothing to criticise in this book! When reading about anything to do with the Aurora Project or Die Glocke (the Nazi Bell), you constantly come against hearsay and myth. Its very hard to find hard facts and Nick Cook is just the man to do that. Former Jane's journalist, his credentials could not be better and he writes with a clarity and brevity that leaves in you in no doubt he believes what he is telling you. And if somebody from Jane's is telling you something, you better believe it! I loved this from start to finish. Impossible to put down if you like reading about Black projects or WWII secret technology. This has to be the authoritative work on the subject - for now!

The Book Is A Pageturner, But The Following Documentery About Roswell Was A Waste Of Time.

Not sure what to make of this. I need to write more apparently to review this so I'm just going to ramble like I am sure this book does.
