Dieter Graf is a widely travelled architect. For many years the Aegean has been his preferred hiking destination. During this time, he has witnessed many changes to the islands. To create this book, he spent many months on the Cyclades and can count himself as a connoisseur of the islands.

We used this book to hike around Naxos and Santorini. The directions are not perfect and the English translation can be difficult to understand, but we always found the path in the end. You must use some imagination when comparing the book's pictures to the current landscape. Chapels, roads, etc. may be remodeled!
